A scientific solution
from trusted
behavior-change experts.

The issue at the root of poor stress management and low resiliency is emotional, not practical.

When someone deals with stress poorly, they unconsciously train parts of their brain to keep dealing with stressful situations in the same self-defeating manner—even though the result is detrimental.

Our evidence-based training gives you the knowledge, cognitive skills, and tools needed to:

- A. Retrain your brain to respond to stressful situations by using them as a source of empowerment instead of disruption and pain,
- B. Take control of the situation in a productive manner.

The result is improved resiliency, genuine, lasting behavioral change, and a higher quality of life.

“The program was very helpful and I needed it more than I thought I did. I did it for points on insurance but the benefit was way above just the points received. I have been able to better look and assess my stressors better than ever before. Great course!” – Course Participant

We make it simple for you to participate and stay on course.

The course features highly engaging prerecorded video instruction from a board-certified physician and a cognitive-behavioral training expert. The training sessions simulate a live one-on-one coaching experience and are private, convenient, and effective.
